

OLD AGE A CRIME!

Some people are young at 60—red checked, ruddy and vigorous. Others are old at 40—joints beginning to stiffen up a bit; step beginning to lag and lose its springiness; occasional touches of pain in the back, feel tired without cause, and possibly a twinge of rheumatic pain. In most cases these are the danger signals to warn you that the kidneys are not promptly doing their work of throwing off the poisons that are always forming in the body. To neglect these natural warnings is a crime against yourself. If you have these symptoms you can find prompt relief in GOLD MEDAL Haaslem Oil Capsules. For more than 20 years this has been the recognized remedy for kidney and bladder ailments. GOLD MEDAL Haaslem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories at Haaslem, Holland. Get them at your druggist's. Do not take a substitute. In boxes three sizes—(Adv.)

PESKY BEG BUGS

A MILLION NEEDBUGS. Just think, a 50¢ package of the new golden chemical, D. Q. (Pest Destroyer), is enough to make a quart and enough to kill a million bugs. No matter how large they may be, where they come from, their color or sex, and at the same time, acting on their eggs and preventing hatching. CUT THIS OUT. This new chemical can be had at any first-class drug store. A 50-cent package makes a quart of D. Q. and will kill farther than a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer. Don't let anybody impose upon your intelligence. On what you ask for, then you'll have what you need.

KEEP ON DOGS. It's fun to see the fleas drop off your dog.

MANY ACTORS AMONG SOLDIERS AT PARK

BROADWAY STARS GIVE SHOW FOR COMRADES.

Varied Amusements Make Life Merry in Detention Camp.

The last of the September draft of 5,000 men from New York have arrived at the detention camp at Fort Oglethorpe. The majority of these men arrived during last week, but on account of orders from Washington the last trainload of 600 men was held up for three days.

Since last March it has been the plan of the commandant at Camp Greenleaf to keep up the morale of these men held in the detention camp. Various ways are employed to encourage the talent in these divisions to provide good and wholesome amusement for the men. As an instance of this kind of work being done is the program to be given Thursday night in the open air theater or air dome at Battalion 15. The vaudeville program is filled with the men who came from New York in this last draft of men, and they are all professionals. Kalma and Kenna, guitarists and singers (Hawaii); Kuhn and Cobb, black and white comedians; Ben Hamid Hamido, tumbler, direct from the New York Hippodrome; Ager and Getzholdt, pianist and violinist, are on the bill. Ago was formerly a song writer for Leo Feist, while Getzholdt played with Sophie Tucker, the well-known singer. Jack Stern, formerly a song composer in original songs and ballads, is another feature.

McCrae, camp song leader, will lead in "mass singing." At 8 o'clock, just after the vaudeville, which starts at 7, will be shown a five-reel feature film.

Athletics, too, are engaged in here to a greater extent than any other place in Camp Greenleaf, although these activities are now being centralized and will soon be engaged in equally by all. In Battalion 15 can be found the greatest little baseball team to be found anywhere according to the belief of every one from Maj. Kirk down to the buck private. This is the same aggregation that wiped up with the Fort McPherson team here last Sunday; and not satisfied with this they go to Camp Gordon Saturday. However, this is not the only baseball team in Battalion 15. There are thirty-two companies and each one has a team and there are several baseball fields, and from 6 until 7 in the evening there are fourteen teams of the various companies playing intercompany games.

Boxing and wrestling programs are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights and excellent programs are given. There are at least four bouts during the performance and out of the several thousand men always in the detention camp good talent is available.

Every company has a volley ball team and these teams also play every night between the hours of 6 and 7. Soccer and rugby games are being started and it is understood that the best football team in the south is to be developed, practice having already started. Push ball is also played at the athletic hour every night, thus giving every man in the company a chance to indulge in some form of these outdoor pastimes.

Saturday night five of the vaudeville performers will enact the play, "Five Merry Youngsters," which was played on the stage for a long time. This show will be under the direction of Fields and Sharp.

SOLDIER BOY TAKES OPPORTUNITY TO BRAG

His Right Seems Pertinent in View of What His Company Is Doing Over There.

"Just raise the curtain of modesty while I brag a bit," says Forrest Groover, of the Fifty-first infantry, "over there," in a letter to a Chattanooga friend. "The nearer we approach the lines the more confident this division feels that it will do what it was sent here to do." "Others have; why not us? We were taught at the beginning that proficiency in the use of arms and the nerve to wield them were what it would take to stop the Germans and that valor alone would not suffice. An officer who has seen many of them says that Company C is more snappy and efficient in the sword drill than any he has ever seen. And shoot? You ought to see some of them at target practice. Hit the bullseye nearly every crack at 500 yards. One Chattanooga boy, who dates me to use his name, knocks center at 500 yards every time he raises his gun. We landed here ready for the front when Gen. Pershing gives the word."

"Coming over we had a nerve tester. They wanted to find out how we would conduct ourselves in case a nest of submarines attacked us. In such a contingency every man was instructed just what he should do. We had been peacefully plowing our way through the Atlantic for so long that we had forgotten the submarines. And when we least expected it the signal was given that enemy sea wolves were after us."

"Without the least bit of confusion and in perfect order every man was at his post. The guns were trained and

FILMS TELL OF AMERICA'S HUGE WAR UNDERTAKING GRAPHICALLY

"America's Answer," a government picture, will be shown here Friday and Saturday.

Chattanooga's next attraction of importance is "America's Answer," a government war film, reputed to be one of the most graphic and exhaustive showings of the great war work that this country has entered upon abroad that has ever been shown. The picture was taken directly under government direction and by government employed photographers. All profits derived from the showing, after the actual expense, go directly into the treasury of the United States, with no profits to a producer.

"America's Answer" is said to be a tremendous correlation of picture facts; pulse-stirring truths in all fiction expunged. It is the second installment of government films and is to be followed by still more. It is designed to stimulate an intense interest and understanding of things as they exist by showing exactly what conditions are and what America has undertaken. It shows how billions of dollars are being spent abroad in a way that cannot be appreciated without either actually seeing or through the medium of films. Newspaper reviews of the picture declare that it silences all unjust criticism, shames pacifism and deals a staggering blow to reptilian propaganda. This installment does not show the horrible side of real fighting so much as it shows the huge developments and work behind the lines, a phase of the war that few people appreciate.

The picture is to be shown at the Lyric Friday and Saturday, with a special matinee for school children.

Mayer Littleton will deliver a short patriotic talk before the picture is run Friday evening.

to their limit to do so.

This regulation was given out in order to regulate the distribution and storage of coal among the industrial plants of Tennessee, and assure the equitable distribution of coal and coke and thereby aid in the efficient prosecution of the war.

At present both wings of the building have the flooring down and are roofed and the second story of the main structure is about ever get to our homes. And since we see the havoc they have wrought we are glad to stand between them and our homes. The sorrow it has brought to France cannot be pictured by our pens, but they are brave and almost divinely devoted to their country. And gleams of joy overspread their sorrowful, smiling faces every time they look upon us.

"America has saved France, and how they appreciate it!"

FRANK M'MINN DODGES BIG SHELLS OVER THERE

He Writes That His Trust in God Makes the Way Easy Despite Dangers.

Corpl. Frank McMinn, former member of The News composing room force, who is "over there" with the 117th infantry, has written an interesting letter to his mother and home folks.

In regard to a silver set which had been given to his mother, the young man said the money could not have been spent on a "dearer, sweeter mother in the world."

"Mother, I have learned what home and a mother are to a boy since I've been away from home," he wrote. "Have joined the church and given my life to God. No one knows what sin is until danger comes and they are far away from home. Then they have no one to lean on but God, and I have found it the best way so far. I can lie down and sleep through all the danger and feel that if I were to die I would be saved."

Corpl. McMinn said they were having summer weather "over there." The nights were very cool. He explained that they had had good luck in that the boys had been up to the front and no one was killed or wounded. "When the big shells go over us they sound like a train," he said. "They say the ones you hear never kill you, but I will dodge every time. I have seen holes blown in the ground that you could put a steamboat in." He said most of the shells which caused these great holes came from airplanes and it was nothing to see twenty-five planes in the sky at a time.

The young soldier wrote that they were camped in a beautiful place and it appeared that peace had always reigned there. He said he never saw young men, that they were all in the army, and the work in the fields was done by old men and women. He explained that they had some of the finest wheat he ever saw, but he had not seen a biscuit.

While he was writing his letter there was a call to dinner. He said they had beans, beef and bread.

In one of his letters Corpl. McMinn told of getting some copies of The News. The papers were eagerly read by all the men, and even the advertisements were read.

Joe McMinn, a brother of the young soldier, has been an employee of The News for some time.

LIMIT SET FOR STORAGE OF COAL SUPPLY

Public Utilities May Have Forty Days Ahead, Preferred Industries Same.

Public utilities ..... 40 days
Preferred industries ..... 40 days
Nonpreferred industries ..... 20 days
These are the maximum number of days allowed the industries in Tennessee for the storage of their supply of bituminous steam coal, according to a regulation which was issued on Sept. 10 by the state fuel administrator, W. E. Myer. The only exceptions to this ruling will be industries which have formerly purchased coal in carload lots direct from mines and whose restricted storage supply is less than carload quantity will be allowed to receive coal in carload lots. In addition to this, industries other than those referred to in the ruling may receive coal in excess of restricted storage supply upon permission from the state fuel administrator.

Mr. Myer announces that industries and utilities having more than the limit set forth in the regulation must cease buying their supply immediately until their supply reaches the limit named.

He also urges that such plants that are on the priority list and where the supply is below the limit the managers of such concerns must take steps at once to make up the deficit. If not on the priority list, Mr. Myer says, "that it is absolutely out of his power at the present time to aid them, but that if they are able to secure coal up

BLARE OF WHISTLES CALLS MEN TO REGISTER

SCRAMBLE TO BE FIRST ON HONOR ROLL.

Fathers and Sons Both in Call. 14,664 Expected for County.

Promptly at 7 o'clock this morning every whistle, bell and other noise-making instrument, presumably in the United States, ushered in the beginning of registration day with a noise calculated to be heard in Berlin and intended to announce to "the powers that would be" that the registration today would enable several million more men to help defeat autocracy.

At practically every voting precinct in the county there were several men before 7 o'clock anxious to be the first to register. Coming in bunches, usually three or four at a time, they were easily handled by the registrars. One fact that was especially noticeable was the predominance of the young men registrars over the older men during the "morning hours." It seemed that the opinion of several was that the earlier he registered the sooner he could get into the service, and practically every one expressed his desire to get into active service as soon as possible.

It is estimated that before the day closes more than 14,000 Chattanoogans and Hamilton countians will have become members of Uncle Sam's reserve army and have acknowledged their willingness to become active fighting members by registering today.

For the first time in the lives of many, the son assumed the same importance as the father and marched with him to the registration place, both to answer the call of their country. The experience of the young man, who cast his first vote, was nothing as compared to the privilege and the honor accorded to and felt by these youngsters. With supreme confidence in his ability to make a fighting man and with rosy dreams of his future feats on the battlefield of liberty, he marched to the registration booth.

Flags were hoisted aloft on every municipal and public building, and for that manner on other buildings also. New flags were raised on the post-office building in honor of the occasion.

The predictions as to the number of registrants in the four local boards, based on the registration of June, 1917, was 14,678, divided among the boards as follows:

|                    |        |
|--------------------|--------|
| City board No. 1   | 4,119  |
| City board No. 2   | 5,104  |
| County board No. 1 | 1,845  |
| County board No. 2 | 3,586  |
| Total              | 14,654 |

About one-third of this number had been registered up till noon today.
